

A LETTER FROM GEORGE ANDREWS YOUR REPRESENTATIVE IN UNITED STATES CONGRESS

Third Congressional District Of Alabama

Dear Constituents:

In view of the fact that it will be impossible to see each of you during the short time left before the May 7th Primary, I am glad to have this opportunity to express to you my deep appreciation for your friendship and support over the years, and also, to state that I have sincerely tried to do the job you expected me to do as your representative in Congress.

Perhaps some of you have been disappointed that I do not return to the District more often. This is my answer:

This is a man-sized job. My hours do not begin at 8:00 a.m. and close at 5:00 p.m. I spend on the average of ten to twelve hours six days a week in my office. I receive on the average 150 to 200 letters each day, and they all contain problems. We get from 15 to 20 long distance telephone calls each day and night, and each of them poses a problem. We make it a policy to answer every letter received each day before leaving the office. During the quarter of a century I have served you in Congress, I have never failed to help a constituent who asked for help and a conscientious effort was made in every case.

I sit on one of the hardest working committees in Congress, the Defense Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, composed of nine men. We meet 5 days a week from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and when one is absent, it stands out like a sore thumb.

I am telling you this so that you will understand why it is impossible for me to leave my job which you sent me to do and which you expect me to do and come to Alabama once a week even though, I assure you, it would be a pleasure to visit with you and perhaps go fishing occasionally.

Seriously, I feel that most of you in the Third District know me and are aware of my record during the 24 years I have been in Congress. In all my years here on Capitol Hill, I do not know of a time when our country faced more critical issues than it does today. I share your hopes, your ambition, your problems and your disappointments, and if you think I am able to continue to handle the problems of the Third District, I can only reiterate and pledge anew that I will continue to do my utmost to represent you to the very best of my strength and ability.

If I can ever be of service to you in any way, I hope you will never hesitate to call on me.

Sincerely,
GEORGE ANDREWS

Local Police Stop Break-ins With Arrest

According to Police Chief Bo Dunaway, an arrest was made Tuesday afternoon following a series of robberies of jewelry stores in Elba Monday night. Some time during the day Monday someone broke into the home of Mrs. Harold English and took a 30-06 rifle, four rings and a pair of earrings. Ten days ago someone had broken into the home of Mrs. English and took several items. Last year her home was broken into and the theft included a 38 special and a 44 Magnum pistol. Recovered was the 38 rings and pair of earrings and the 30-06 rifle, Tuesday, which had been stolen the previous day.

Monday night the burglar entered the Lloyd Daniel Gulf Service Station but nothing was taken. He broke into the Elba Oil Company where he took $18 in cash. The money was reported recovered. He entered and broke up the telephone booth at the Jim Ammon's taxi stand. At the Beauty Nook he took a bubble gum machine containing about $20 after he had poured hair dye all over mirrors, towels and other supplies, plus the floor. From the Sanitary Barber Shop he took 7 razors, one razor hone and several bottles of hair tonic, all of which was recovered. At the Charles Cox Pure Oil Station he took a tire and a ring of keys which were recovered, but the tire is still missing. He attempted to break into the OK Rubber Welding Warehouse but failed to enter and nothing was taken from there.

Leading to the arrest of Billy Boy Jackson was when two small Negro boys went to the Jewel Box to sell the rings they had gotten from Jackson. Dozier Roberts, owner of the Jewel Box, recognized the rings as belonging to Mrs. English. When the boys were questioned by authorities they told where they had gotten the rings which led to the arrest according to Chief Dunaway.

The arrest of Jackson came as quickly as it did thru the cooperation of the Elba Police Department, Tony Masters of the State Department of Public Safety, and the Sheriff's Department. Special appreciation has been credited to Dozier Roberts of the Jewel Box and Leo Foreman of the City Water and Electric Board.

An amazing thing to happen during the breaking and entering period, was that as Jackson was crossing the street from Cox Oil Station, the police car came by and he thumbed them for a ride. He later stated that he was cold and needed a ride home. Immediately afterwards, he broke into another firm, Jackson has admitted the thefts and also gave an account of where he disposed of the pistols he took from the home of Mrs. Harold English last year.

Elba Baseball Team To End Season Friday

The Elba High School baseball team will end their season on Friday night with a game against Ozark. The game will be played in Elba at Legion Field.

The public is invited to come out and support the local team. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Track Team Records A Successful Year

The Elba Track Team, in only its second year of competition, has been quite impressive, mainly relying on the dashes and field events. Johnny Sharpless and Brice Paul in the 100 yard dash both qualified for the State Track Meet in Auburn as did Jerry Hanchy in the triple jump. The 440 relay team, consisting of Brice Paul, Paul and Sharpless, finished fourth in the 100 yard dash and third in the 440 relay team.

Two Jr. High boys qualified for Jr. High State Track Meet. They are Kenneth Grogg, left, in the Shot Put with 39 feet and Don Wambles in the High Jump with 5 feet 2 inches.

Democratic Primary Vote Less Than 50%

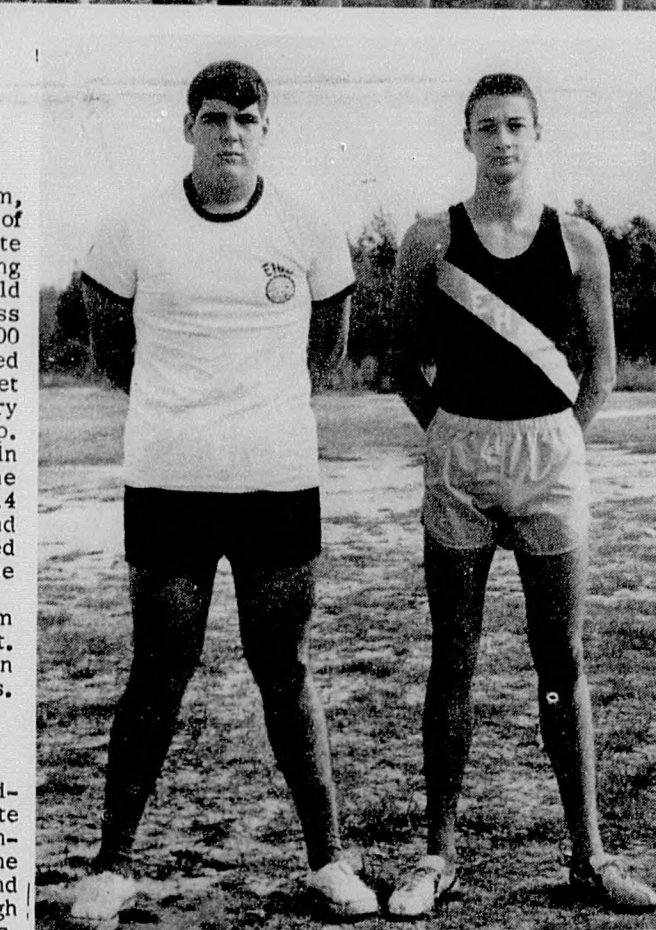

The Democratic Primary, held in Coffee County Tuesday, has produced some winners and at least one apparent run-off.

In Coffee County the two commissioner races have apparently produced winners in both. Albert Dye, the incumbent in District 1, was elected by better than a two to one margin with all the votes counted. He polled 3722 and his only opponent, Charles Brown, polled 1770. In District 4, Enterprise, Incumbent Buster Bowden did not poll a clear majority when all the votes were counted. He polled 3124 which is 55 votes short of a majority. His closest opponent is O. V. Waters with 1852. Conner Sims polled 797 and H. F. Cardwell 530.

In the Senate race, Allen was leading in Coffee County in incomplete returns. He polled 2197, Sel-den 1646, Smith 660, Folson 507, Cromlin 33 and Mrs. Stewart 21. These figures were with 34 of 44 boxes reporting Tuesday night.

Mr. Bryant Steele, of the New Brockton High School, is now taking applications for positions in the Head Start project for which they were recently awarded a grant.

Mr. Steele said application forms for teachers, teacher-aids, cooks, cook-aids, social worker - dietitian, janitor, and clerical worker - bookkeeper, may be obtained at the school.

For success with African violets give them some morning sun during winter. Water them by setting your violets in porous clay pots in a deep pan or tray and fill this with water each day until the surface of the pot feels moist to the touch. Jus' Ramblin' BY LUCILE K. WOODHAM MRAE

GOVERNOR Lurleen Burns

Wallace is dead. Lurleen was ill when she was elected governor, when inaugurated and remained ill during the nearly one and a half years she held the office of governor. Her condition became critical soon after she went into office. Former Governor George Wallace was running all over the country in an effort to capture the office of president of the United States and had little interest in the governor's office except as a stepping stone. I think Lurleen Wallace enjoyed the few weeks of campaigning prior to the election and she is found to have enjoyed being elected with such a complimentary vote. The glamour of the election, the inauguration, and the weeks that followed are bound to have been interesting but as soon as the first glamour had worn off, it is my opinion, that Lurleen Wallace was the unappetizing woman in the State of Alabama. Not because of her illness, though that is bound to have played a part, but because, as she became familiar with politics and some of the things required of her by her husband and his captains were distasteful to her. That is the opinion I received in a study of her and the situation she was placed in, and particular incidents that happened following the inauguration.

I thought at the time and I continue to think, that George Wallace did her the worst injustice he could have in running her for governor. She was not the type to enjoy the position nor the situation. She would have much preferred to be a housewife, in my opinion, and to be a mother to her children. She would have preferred, instead of the social events required of her as a governor, to join the thousands in looking for the best for Albert Brewer who now serves Alabama as Governor. Because of Governor Wallace's illness Alabama has suffered neglect and there is so much that needs attention. But I am glad that Governor Brewer went into the Governor's office without his hands being tied. At least I have an idea he waited until he could take over as governor without a lot of strings attached to him as a puppet with someone else controlling the action. I am hoping that Albert Brewer will be Alabama's governor and not a stand-in for anyone. Never in the history of this state has Alabama needed a governor so badly.

As she could under the circumstances. She was not allowed to actually be governor and never for a moment was she allowed to speak to anyone about anything pertaining to state affairs except under the supervision of former Governor George Wallace or one of his captains. Even on television she was always escorted by someone who would interrupt if she showed any signs of saying "the wrong thing." When she returned from Texas after surgery, etc., last year, she held on the plane for more than an hour where she was being coached as to what she could and could not say, and when she was allowed to leave the plane and face the people there to greet her she read a message from a prepared speech - not her own, but prepared by someone else.

She held the highest position in the State but she seemed shy and sympathy more than any woman I have ever known. But Lurleen Wallace might have done more for the State of Alabama than any of us can now realize. Certainly she was a reflection on the State of Alabama. She was honorable from every standpoint and I guess had the respect and sympathy of more people than anyone will ever know. Her life was a rough one but she was never known publicly to complain about it and I don't believe that she ever for a moment questioned the uncertain problems of her life. That would not be easy to carry by even a well and strong woman. She married an ambitious man but so far as the public ever knew she never regretted it even though she would have preferred to live a modest and normal life.

Lurleen Wallace, as Governor of Alabama, is now history. I join the thousands in looking for the best for Albert Brewer who now serves Alabama as Governor. Because of Governor Wallace's illness Alabama has suffered neglect and there is so much that needs attention. But I am glad that Governor Brewer went into the Governor's office without his hands being tied. At least I have an idea he waited until he could take over as governor without a lot of strings attached to him as a puppet with someone else controlling the action. I am hoping that Albert Brewer will be Alabama's governor and not a stand-in for anyone. Never in the history of this state has Alabama needed a governor so badly.

is brewing. If Governor Brewer is a politician he will be apt to put his first impulses in the background and play along with George Wallace for a few months - or at least until after the general election this fall. And it will then be up to what happens in the presidential election as to just what his future decisions may be.

But there is one real good thing about Albert Brewer being governor. He will be interested in state affairs and not expected to be out of the state all the time running for president - in other words using the governor's office for a stepping stone for higher ambitions.

I have confidence Albert Brewer will make Alabama a good governor and that is my prayer. I believe that he will be governor. It looks now as if it will take years for Alabama to overcome the neglect it has already suffered. Let us pray that Albert Brewer is the man to get Alabama back on its feet.

If things are going along smoothly, Agel can always be counted on to throw a wrench into the machinery and then sit back and watch the fun.

Here is COMMON TATER. He never has an original idea, and he never does a thing; but if you do something, he's right there to tell you how you should have done it. He can tell you what's wrong with the club projects and programs, but won't take an office himself. When someone else takes office, Common Tater tells him just how to do his job.

Next is HESSA. HESSA TATER does not think the club should take on too much. Why get rid of the termites? It costs a lot of money, besides no one has fallen through the floor yet. Let's wait a little while maybe we will have more money next year.

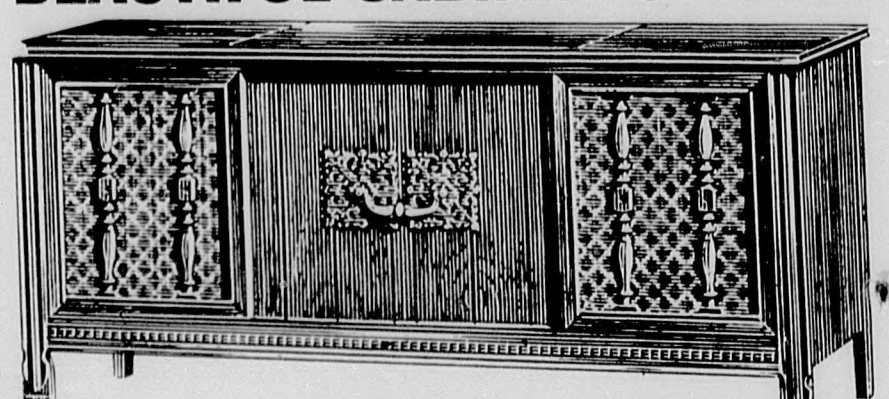

Last we meet SWEET TATER. Everybody loves her. She is always the first to volunteer for a job. If someone else falls down on a job, she steps in and finishes it without complaint. She does everything she is asked to do and will gladly help you too, when you call on her.

This is the Tater family; do you identify with one of these?

FREEZING PEAS

Perry Smith of our Auburn University Truck Crops staff and I visited L. A. Jones of Route 2, Enterprise, Thursday afternoon. Jones has planted 20 acres of a fairly new variety of peas which are being grown for the King Pharr Company. He has 20 acres planted April 17 and they are up to an excellent stand. When blooms first appear, he will spray or dust with Toxaphene and repeat again in a few days and possibly another time to prevent worms.

We have about 30 different plans for buildings and handling cattle. Many Coffee County growers are finding that good buildings and equipment are needed for an efficient beef cattle operation. Some of the plans that we have include corrals, fences, loading ramps, head and gate anchors and other items. COFFEE NEWS & CHAT

BY SARA E. HUTCHINSON

REDBUG Just mention chiggers and the itching starts. Chiggers like berry patches, orchards, woodlands, lawns and parks -- just about every place you like to go in the summer.

But the "redbug curse" can be lifted with proper treatment and precautions. There are a number of repellents on the market. Four some repellent on your hands, then lightly rub it on your arms and legs, around trouser and shirt, waist bands and cuffs. This treatment should last several hours. For complete protection, impregnate all the outer clothing with benzyl benzoate.

LIGHTENING From a new lightning book I have, I'd like to share this with you. All bare bulbs on tubes in a ceiling fixture should be covered with a shade or diffuser. An inexpensive way to avoid the glare of bare bulbs in a ceiling fixture is to replace these bulbs with silver bowl bulbs or decorative mushroom shaped bulbs.

TRIMMINGS To give a room an elegant decorator look, learn how to use all the trimmings! Colorful cotton trims--like braid, ball fringe and tassels--are currently popular in home decorating circles. For instance, printed fabric draperies take on a custom-designed look when you add a trim of rich tassel fringe of a solid color. An inexpensive bedspread can be transformed with a luxurious edging of cotton ball fringe. But put four or five rows of the fringe on a solid color. Each row may be a different bright color.

Yes, trimmings can be used in a variety of ways to dramatize room decor. They can give a finished decorator look to items you have made yourself, like curtains and tablecloths. But don't stop there. Follow the example of professional decorators. Use

Overexpansion In Hogs From Low Corn Prices

Low corn prices could encourage overexpansion in the hog business, according to Dan Linton, Auburn University livestock marketing specialist.

"If past experience is any indication of what to expect in the future," said Linton, "then look for an increase in hog number."

Linton, an Extension Service staff member, pointed out that if the expansion occurs, it will probably affect the price of pigs coming to market spring crop.

He explained that hog prices in the first half of this year may average about the same as this period last year.

"While some downward adjustment will probably occur in late winter or early spring, hog prices are expected to rise gradually to a summer high," said Linton. He added that prices are expected to move downward to a fall low because of the large spring crop.

Convention Climaxes National Library Week Activities

Cross Trails Regional librarians report a successful National Library Week celebration which ended April 27. High on the list of activities were art shows. Many people visited their libraries for the first time. Many over-due books were returned without penalties. Librarians wish to thank the newspaper and radio personnel of the five-county region for publicizing the week of national emphasis. All did a good job, and it is appreciated. The annual convention of the Alabama Library Association was held in Huntsville on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. George G. Johnson, Cross Trails administrator, gave the devotion for the Public Libraries Division. Miss Verna Nistendirk, assistant state librarian for Florida, was the speaker for this group. She lauded Alabama's library building program. Many fine libraries have been erected in the last few years and others are on the drawing board. Due to constant requests from college students in the area, Cross Trails is buying more and more college level books in order to be of greater service.
